

Game of Thrones board game tutorial

After lunching or joining a new game, you should arrive to a screen like this.

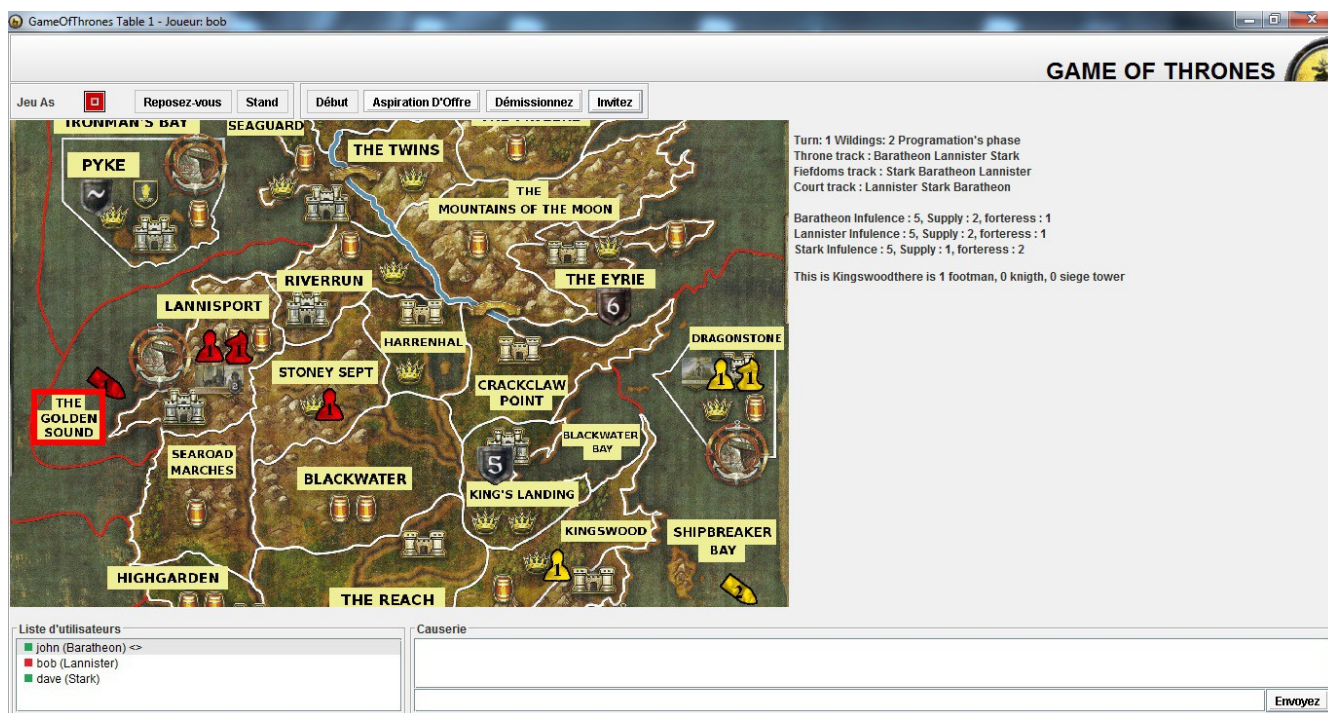

Select the family you want to play with(1). Seat(2) and start (3).

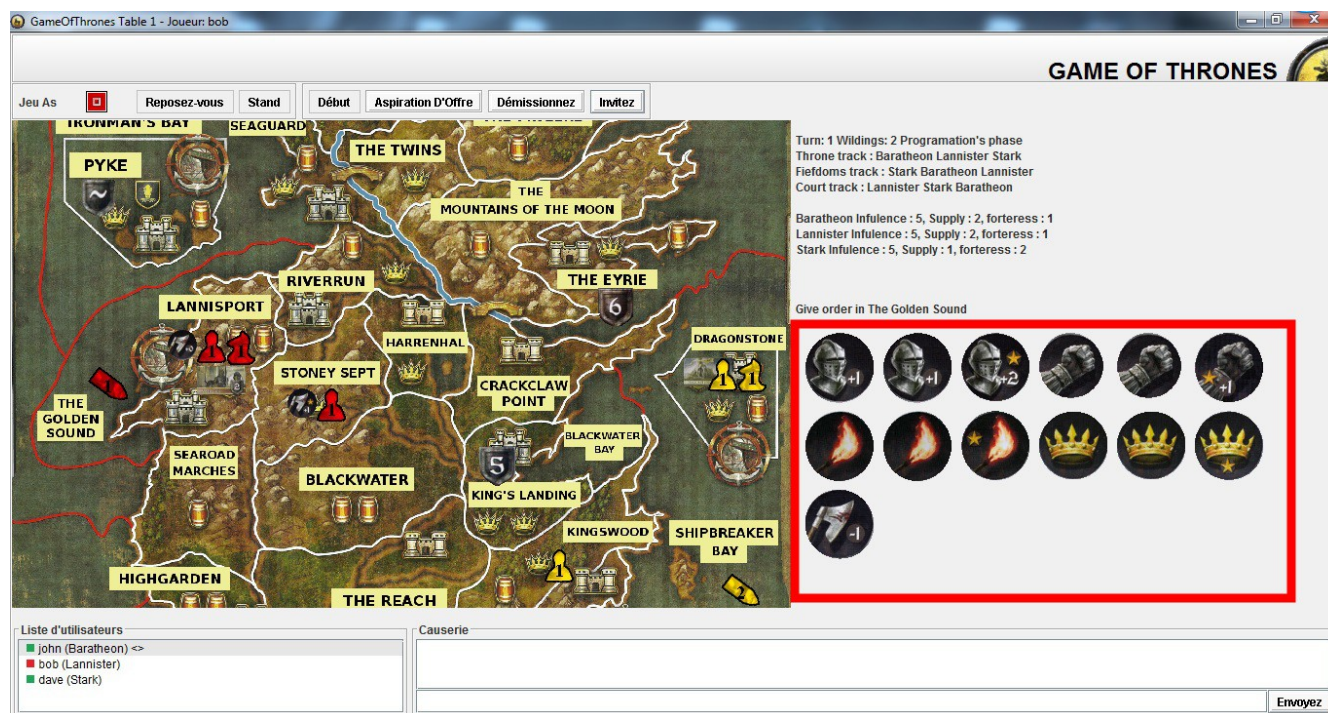

Once every player click on button start, the game begin. You can now give order to your different territory, this is the programming phase.

To give an order to a territory, you must click on its name (except for the ports, you just have to click on it).

Once you've clicked on it, the different orders available appears. You can now click on one of them to put it on the board.

Generally, when something appear on the bottom right area, you can click on it to make some action (or go to the next action)
